The BLCK family conjures love in a dissection of the visual and auditory senses

Miami, Florida : Miami based artist collective, the BLCK family launches the 2nd installment of BLCK house party, an auditory experiment dissecting the presentation of sound in visual art spaces.

Motivated by the desire to connect communities in an environment built to encourage collaboration, foster creativity and manifest love, The BLCK family executes dozens of mobile performances art shows a year, centered around culinary, visual, performing and social arts.

BLCK house party will take place at BASE art space, a home in Little Haiti, Miami that doubles as a monumental mixed media work by artist Marcus Blake. Guests will migrate through the space driven by an auditory concoction spearheaded by James Klynn, Spinelli and Larren Mellerson. Peppered throughout, are new works by the prolific Miami based artist Marcus Blake.
